INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE AND STRATEGY

The Fund aims to achieve for its participants the potential to enhanced intermediate term returns by investing in sovereign bonds issued by the Republic of the Philippines and other countries, corporate notes and bonds, term deposits and other tradable securities. The Fund maintains a total portfolio duration of more than one (1) year not more than three (3) years. The Fund aims to exceed its benchmark. Its benchmark is a blended between 25% Bloomberg USD Emerging Market Philippines Sovereign Bond Index and 75% Average Philippine US Dollar Savings Deposit Rate.

- Description and Key Characteristics of the Benchmark
 - o The Bloomberg USD Emerging Market Philippines Sovereign Bond Index tracks dollar-denominated sovereign bonds issued by the Republic of the Philippines, including bonds with differing maturities. The aim of the benchmark is to represent the performance of the Philippine sovereign debt market in US dollars. The Average Philippine US Dollar Savings Deposit Rate tracks the average of the interest rates that different Philippine banks offer for their US Dollar savings accounts.
- Use of the Benchmark
 - o The fund is designed for moderate-risk appetite investors looking for returns on their investments through capital appreciation by investing in a managed dollar-denominated fund with an investment time horizon of at least three (3) years. The blended benchmark would be a comparable metric given it measures the performance of the same type of instruments that the fund plans to invest in.

KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

- Investors may not get back the value of their original investment.
- The value of the Fund may rise or fall. You may lose some or all of your investment depending on the performance of the underlying securities. Factors that may affect the performance of these securities include, without limitation, market risks, fluctuations in interest rates, political instability, exchange controls, changes in taxation and foreign investment policies. Some of the key risks associated with the Fund are described below:
- Interest Rate Risk. The value of fixed-income investments such as notes and bonds generally fall when interest rates rise. The potential for loss is typically greater for securities that have a longer term to maturity, have a longer duration or have a lower yield or coupon rate.
 - Reinvestment Rate Risk. This is the risk of reinvesting interest earnings at a rate lower than the original investment.
 - Credit Risk. Bonds represent a loan made to the issuer of the bond. The credit worthiness of the bond issuer is the issuer's ability to pay interest and principal on time, which can change during the life of the bond. Issuers with a higher risk of defaulting pay the highest yields.
 - Foreign Exchange Risk. Foreign exchange risk exists when investments are made in securities that are denominated in a currency that is different from the one spent. For example, the earnings of a USD-denominated bond investment could be reduced or even negated by an appreciation of the Philippine Peso vis-à-vis the US Dollar.
 - Market Risk. Market risk is the risk that the value of the fund investment will be negatively affected by the fluctuations in the price level of its underlying instruments.
 - Inflation Risk. Affecting all investments, inflation reduces the purchasing power of money.
 - Liquidity Risk. Liquidity is a measure of how easy it is for a security to be converted into cash. A liquid security is widely held and is frequently traded by many buyers and sellers every day. This is minimized by investing in marketable securities.
 - Inflation Risk. Inflation is the general upward price movement of goods or services in an economy, resulting in a reduction in the purchasing power of money. Inflation affects all investments. An investor would want the value of his investment to keep pace or exceed the rate by which the prices of goods and services go up. Historically, inflation risk is greatest for short-term guaranteed securities like time deposits and treasury bills.
 - Country/ Political Risk. Securities can be affected by the political, economic and social structures within the countries of their issuers, such as internal and external conflicts, currency devaluations, foreign ownership limitations, trading costs and tax increases.
 - Other Risks. Participation in the UITF may be further exposed to the risk of any actual or potential conflicts of interest relative to in-house transactions by EastWest Bank-Trust.

- These are the principal risk factors which may affect the performance of the Fund. If you would like more information before you invest, please consult the most recent Declaration of Trust (DOT). The rights and duties of the investor are in the DOT.
- The Fund employs a risk management policy based on duration. Duration measures the sensitivity of NAVPU to interest rate movements. As interest rates rise, bond prices fall. The higher the duration, the more the NAVPU will fluctuate in relation to changes in interest rates.

- Description and Key Characteristics of the Benchmark
 - o The S&P 500 is a stock market index tracking the performance of 500 large-cap companies listed on stock exchanges in the United States. It's considered a broad measure of the U.S. equity market and is often used as a benchmark for investment performance. The index is weighted by market capitalization, meaning companies with higher stock prices have a larger influence on the index's movement. It is not a Total Returns Benchmark nor is it net of taxes.
- Use of the Benchmark
 - o The fund is designed for high-risk appetite investors looking for returns on their investments that track the return of the Index Benchmark. As a feeder fund, this will be invested in another fund that tracks the S&P 500 index. The SPX Index benchmark would be the most appropriate as it aims to track its performance.
 - o However, there is a misalignment between the returns of fund and benchmark. This is due to the Total Returns and Taxable nature of the fund, which can create differences in their return.
- Relevant Sources for further benchmark information:
 - o S&P Dow Jones Indices (S&P 500® | S&P Dow Jones Indices (spglobal.com))
 - o Bloomberg. For additional information on the benchmark, investors may send an email to Bloomberg via indexhelp@bloomberg.net

KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

- Investors may not get back the value of their original investment.
- The value of the Fund may rise or fall. You may lose some or all of your investment depending on the performance of the underlying securities. Factors that may affect the performance of these securities include, without limitation, market risks, fluctuations in interest rates, political instability, exchange controls, changes in taxation and foreign investment policies. Some of the key risks associated with the Fund are described below:
 - o Interest Rate Risk. The value of fixed-income investments such as notes and bonds generally fall when interest rates rise. The potential for loss is typically greater for securities that have a longer term to maturity, have a longer duration or have a lower yield or coupon rate.
 - o Reinvestment Rate Risk. This is the risk that interest earnings, or the proceeds from the sale or maturity of a bond investment, is reinvested at a rate lower than its original investment, thus reducing the investor's periodic income.
 - o Credit Risk. This is the possibility for an investor to experience losses due to a borrower's failure to pay principal and/or interest in a timely manner. Bonds represent a loan made to the issuer of the bond. The credit worthiness of the bond issuer is the issuer's ability to pay interest and principal on time, which can change during the life of the bond. Issuers with a higher risk of defaulting pay the highest yields.
 - o Market Risk. Market Risk is the possibility for an investor to experience losses due to changes in market prices of securities. It is the risk of a UITF to lose value due to a decline in the prices of securities, which may sometimes happen rapidly or unexpectedly. There are market factors affecting all securities that cannot be controlled by diversification, such as the sentiment of investors as a whole which is unpredictable. Market downturns can come swiftly and last a long time.
 - o Liquidity Risk. Liquidity is a measure of how easy it is for a security to be converted into cash. A liquid security is widely held and is frequently traded by many buyers and sellers every day. Liquidity risk is minimized by investing in marketable securities.
 - o Inflation Risk. Inflation is the general upward price movement of goods or services in an economy, resulting to a reduction in the purchasing power of money. Inflation affects all investments. An investor would want the value of his investment to keep pace or exceed the rate by which the prices of goods and services go up. Historically, inflation risk is greatest for short-term guaranteed securities like time deposits and treasury bills.

- Country Risk. Securities can be affected by the political, economic and social structures within the countries of their issuers, such as internal and external conflicts, currency devaluations, foreign ownership limitations, trading costs, tax increases, and other changes in regulations.”
- Other Risks. Participation in the UITF may be further exposed to the risk of any actual or potential conflicts of interest relative to in-house transactions by EastWest Bank-Trust.

OTHER DISCLOSURES

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY. Local bond yields declined by an average of 48 bps across the yield curve after the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas slashed the reserve requirement ratio (RRR) across all banks, with the RRR for large banks cut from 9.5% to 7.0% effective October 25th. The RRR cut is expected to inject over Php300 billion into the economy, which should stimulate more lending and investment activity going forward. Inflation should decelerate faster in October since we expect the impact of lower tariffs on rice imports to finally be reflected on retail prices.

PROSPECTIVE INVESTMENTS. The Fund's prospective investments include securities issued by or guaranteed by the Philippine government, marketable fixed income securities issued by corporations and traded in an organized exchange, securities issued by or guaranteed by any government of a foreign country or any political subdivision of a foreign country, securities issued by any supranational entity, loans traded in an organized exchange, savings and time deposits in any bank or financial institution, and other tradable investment outlets categories as the BSP may allow.

KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

- Investors may not get back the value of their original investment upon redemption.
- The value of the Fund may rise or fall. You may lose some or all of your investment depending on the performance of the underlying securities. Factors that may affect the performance of these securities include, without limitation, market risks, fluctuations in interest rates, political instability, exchange controls, changes in taxation and foreign investment policies. Some of the key risks associated with the Fund are described below:
 - Interest Rate Risk. The value of fixed-income investments such as notes and bonds generally fall when interest rates rise. The potential for loss is typically greater for securities that have a longer term to maturity, have a longer duration or have a lower yield or coupon rate.
 - Reinvestment Rate Risk. This is the risk that interest earnings, or the proceeds from the sale or maturity of a bond investment, is reinvested at a rate lower than its original investment, thus reducing the investor's periodic income.
 - Credit Risk. This is the possibility for an investor to experience losses due to a borrower's failure to pay principal and/or interest in a timely manner. Bonds represent a loan made to the issuer of the bond. The credit worthiness of the bond issuer is the issuer's ability to pay interest and principal on time, which can change during the life of the bond. Issuers with a higher risk of defaulting pay the highest yields.
 - Market Risk. Market Risk is the possibility for an investor to experience losses due to changes in market prices of securities. It is the risk of a UITF to lose value due to a decline in the prices of securities, which may sometimes happen rapidly and unexpectedly. There are market factors affecting all securities that cannot be controlled by diversification, such as the sentiment of investors as a whole which is unpredictable. Market downturns can come swiftly and last a long time.
 - Liquidity Risk. Liquidity is a measure of how easy it is for a security to be converted into cash. A liquid security is widely held and is frequently traded by many buyers and sellers every day. Liquidity risk is minimized by investing in marketable securities.
 - Inflation Risk. Inflation is the general upward price movement of goods or services in an economy, resulting to a reduction in the purchasing power of money. Inflation affects all investments. An investor would want the value of his investment to keep pace or exceed the rate by which the prices of goods and services go up. Historically, inflation risk is greatest for short-term guaranteed securities like time deposits and treasury bills.
 - Country Risk. Securities can be affected by the political, economic and social structures within the countries of their issuers, such as internal and external conflicts, currency devaluations, foreign ownership limitations, trading costs, tax increases, and other changes in regulations.

- Other Risks. Participation in the UITF may be further exposed to the risk of any actual or potential conflicts of interest relative to in-house transactions by EastWest Bank-Trust.
- These are the principal risk factors which may affect the performance of the Fund. If you would like more information before you invest, please consult the most recent Declaration of Trust (DOT). The rights and duties of the investor are in the DOT.
- The Fund employs a risk management policy based on duration. Duration measures the sensitivity of NAVpU to interest rate movements. As interest rates rise, bond prices fall. The higher the duration, the more the NAVpU will fluctuate in relation to changes in interest rates.

OTHER DISCLOSURES

RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS. The Fund has bond investments in Filinvest Land amounting to P1.200 million. The investment outlets were approved by the Board of Directors. All related party transactions are conducted on a best execution and arm's length basis.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY. Local bond yields declined by an average of 48 bps across the yield curve after the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas slashed the reserve requirement ratio (RRR) across all banks, with the RRR for large banks cut from 9.5% to 7.0% effective October 25th. The RRR cut is expected to inject over Php300 billion into the economy, which should stimulate more lending and investment activity going forward. Inflation should decelerate faster in October since we expect the impact of lower tariffs on rice imports to finally be reflected on retail prices.

PROSPECTIVE INVESTMENTS. The Fund's prospective investments include securities issued by or guaranteed by the Philippine government, marketable fixed income securities issued or guaranteed by corporations and traded in an organized exchange, securities issued or guaranteed by any government of a foreign country or any political subdivision of a foreign country, securities issued or guaranteed by any supranational entity, loans traded in an organized exchanged, savings and time deposits in any bank or financial institution, and other tradable investment outlets categories as the BSP may allow.

OTHER DISCLOSURES

RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS. The Fund's target fund (PhilEquity Fund, Inc.) has holdings of East West Banking Corporation common shares.

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY Local shares surged in September as robust foreign buying spilled over from the prior month. Year-to-date foreign flows finally turned positive for the first time since March after the Federal Reserve kicked off its monetary easing cycle with a 50-basis point cut to its policy rate. The PSEi ended the month above our yearend target (7,250), but we see more upside ahead after the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas slashed the reserve requirement ratio (RRR) across all banks, with the RRR for large banks cut from 9.5% to 7.0% effective October 25th. Inflation should decelerate faster in October since we expect the impact of lower tariffs on rice imports to finally be reflected on retail prices.

Relation of the Benchmark's to the fund's objectives/investment strategies

- The fund is designed for high-risk appetite investors looking for returns on their investments through capital appreciation of their investment. The fund will invest in Equities listed in the Philippine Stock Exchange.
- However, there is a misalignment between the returns of fund and benchmark. This is due to the Total Returns and Taxable nature of the fund, which can create differences in their return.

OTHER DISCLOSURES

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY. Local shares surged in September as robust foreign buying spilled over from the prior month. Year-to-date foreign flows finally turned positive for the first time since March after the Federal Reserve kicked off its monetary easing cycle with a 50-basis point cut to its policy rate. The PSEi ended the month above our yearend target (7,250), but we see more upside ahead after the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas slashed the reserve requirement ratio (RRR) across all banks, with the RRR for large banks cut from 9.5% to 7.0% effective October 25th. Inflation should decelerate faster in October since we expect the impact of lower tariffs on rice imports to finally be reflected on retail prices.

PROSPECTIVE INVESTMENT. The Fund's prospective investments, depending on availability and market development, may include but are not limited to, stocks in the Philippine Stock Exchange Index, Time Deposits, Government Securities and tradable fixed income securities issued by local financial institutions or private corporations.
